

8000 Corporate Center Drive, Suite 100, Charlotte, NC 28226

p: 800-637-6288

www.sunrisetechnologygroup.com

Press Release

For Immediate Release

July 15, 2004

Contact: Christine Dryden

800-637-6288, ext 733

christined@sunrisesoftwareinc.com

Maxwell Management Suite Gets Five Stars from CPA Publication

Popular Construction Accounting System Lauded for Service Management Features

CHARLOTTE, NC – For the second year in a row, Maxwell Management Suite was rated 5 stars (out of five) in a recent review in the CPA Technology Advisor, a publication often referred to as the “Consumer Reports” of the accounting industry. The annual evaluation of 15 popular construction accounting software systems was printed in the April/May issue and was based on available modules, learning curve, integration, support and training, security, customization and productivity, reports and relative value.

The review applauded Maxwell for its value and flexibility. “This is not a program that will be replaced in a few years. Instead, it can easily grow with you and become more valuable with time,” wrote reviewer Mary Girsch-Bock. High scores were also given to Maxwell’s training and support services, which are provided to users in the Southeast by Master Dealer Sunrise Technology Group, Inc.

Maxwell’s Productivity features were also noted. “One of the best features in the Maxwell Management Suite is the Service Management module,” the review stated. “Control Central provides office personnel with detailed customer information and technician location. The Service Management Dispatch Board lists service personnel and scheduled times in a weekly grid. Beneath is the dispatch screen, where you enter customer information and create a service ticket. This is an exceptionally useful feature for those providing maintenance or equipment servicing.”

Founded in 1991 as The CPA Software News, an independent source for information on accounting software, The CPA Technology Advisor is dedicated to providing practicing public accountants with the knowledge they need to make an informed software purchasing decision. Through in-depth software reviews and comparisons, detailed due-diligence charts, tables and graphs, The CPA Technology Advisor helps accountants explore, purchase and implement software productively. More information about the publication and the full review are available at www.cpatechadviser.com.

Maxwell Management Suite, a product of Maxwell Systems, Inc. of Norristown, PA., is a modular, fully-integrated accounting software system that was designed specifically for the construction industry. Maxwell is a popular choice among heavy contractors and specialty subcontractors who rely on the sophisticated integration between accounting and industry-specific functionality like job costing, equipment costing and service dispatching. www.maxwellsystems.com

Maxwell is represented locally by Sunrise Technology Group, Inc., the Southeast’s leading provider of construction-specific accounting, job cost, service management and project management solutions. Since 1984, Sunrise has worked exclusively with the construction industry and an experienced staff of industry veterans provides their 500+ contractor clients with award-winning telephone support, training and consulting services. For more information contact Christine Dryden at 800-637-6288, ext 733 or christined@sunrisetechnologygroup.com.

###